

Dr. Paul McPherron, Assistant Professor of Linguistics, was recently invited to give a keynote talk at the Purdue Graduate Student Forum in April 2011. His talk, entitled, "On the market": Notes on finding a job, fitting into a department, and trying to capture the zeitgeist of ESL/SLS studies around the world," discussed his experiences finishing his dissertation, interviewing for academic positions, and shaping his early research career.